

Tamara Gibbs

Tamara B. Gibbs is the founder and creator of Single Serving for Single Women™

Tamara Gibbs is the founder and creator of Single Serving for Single Women, a Christian digital ministry targeting single women. Born out of her desire to encourage herself, Single Serving for Single Women offers original, visually engaging daily inspirational quotes to its growing fan base on social media. The digital ministry serves up #MorningPrayer tweets and Scripture along with a weekly Blog Series. In the pending publication Single Serving for Single Women: A 50 Day Devotional, Tamara B. Gibbs is willing to walk in faith with her readers. The Emmy-nominated journalist turned author defines herself as a believer, speaker, writer, and teacher. After 16 years as a broadcast journalist in the Raleigh-Durham market, Tamara is a familiar face in Central North Carolina. She traded in her reporter notepad and pen in pursuit of a change in pace, and the chance to speak and write out loud for God. In addition to serving as the Senior Public Information Officer for the Durham County Sheriff's Office, she is an adjunct professor and the co-producer of an upcoming documentary entitled Victims of Faith produced by Front Runner Productions. The feature film will explore the role of faith in the fatal shooting of three Muslim students in Chapel Hill, NC.

Topics:

SINGLE & CONTENT

A favorite among women's ministries! This workshop is a candid discussion about being single in waiting that helps women to make peace with singleness while keeping the faith in their heart's desires

UNLOCK YOUR LIFE

Equipping workshop participants with tools to shed fear and unlock their life's purpose as they pursue their personal and professional goals.

WOMEN MAKE WOMEN

A hot topic for women's ministries, women's conferences and workshops! The importance of women supporting other women in the workplace, home and in their places of worship.

SELF-LOVE, A SURVIVAL SKILL

A reminder that the most valuable relationship is the one we have with ourselves.

WOMAN IN THE MIRROR

Workshop focuses on self-assessment of personal and professional goals and challenges.

DON'T GIVE UP

A powerful message about staying in the fight, never giving up and finishing strong!

DATING DO's & DON'T's

Valuable lessons on how to date with a purpose

YOU ARE MORE

Encouraging workshop participants to develop healthy self-esteem and maintaining healthy relationships with friends, family and in the workplace.

LIFE AFTER LOSS

Gentle encouragement for people surviving a personal loss from a faith perspective.

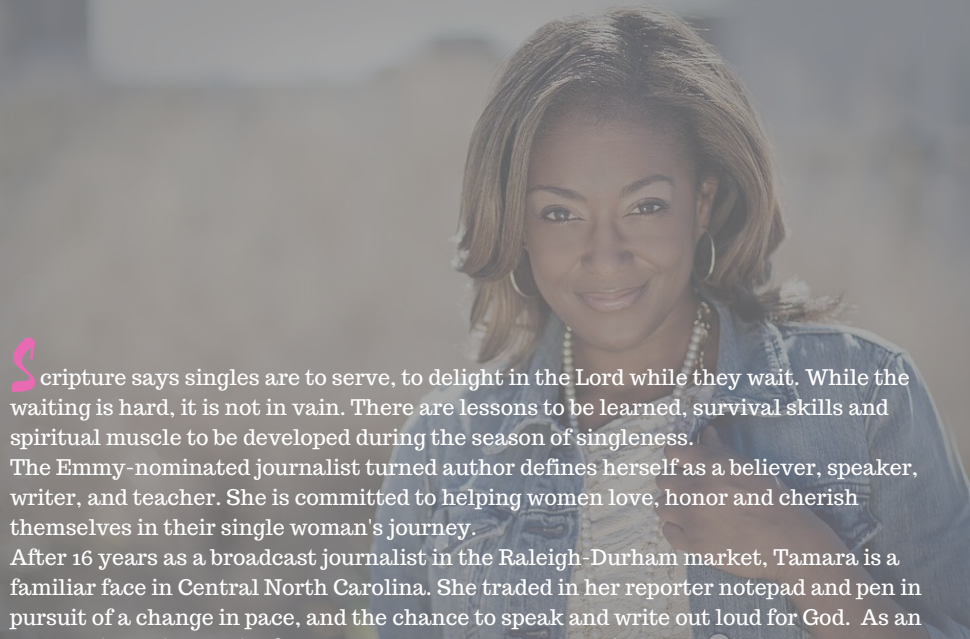

MEDIA TRAINING

Providing corporations, non-profits, government agencies and individuals with necessary skills for successful news media interviews and fair coverage.

JOURNALISM 101

Helping aspiring communications students understand the broadcast news industry and the impact of social media.

-Tamara can speak from a Christian faith perspective or a secular perspective.

Scripture says singles are to serve, to delight in the Lord while they wait. While the waiting is hard, it is not in vain. There are lessons to be learned, survival skills and spiritual muscle to be developed during the season of singleness. The Emmy-nominated journalist turned author defines herself as a believer, speaker, writer, and teacher. She is committed to helping women love, honor and cherish themselves in their single woman's journey.

After 16 years as a broadcast journalist in the Raleigh-Durham market, Tamara is a familiar face in Central North Carolina. She traded in her reporter notepad and pen in pursuit of a change in pace, and the chance to speak and write out loud for God. As an accomplished journalist for more than 20 years, she's delivered credible news coverage on major events affecting North Carolinians. A few of her most notable assignments included President Barack Obama's Inauguration, the controversy surrounding Attorney General Loretta Lynch's confirmation, the passing of Maya Angelou, Hurricanes Sandy and Irene, the federal political fraud trial of former presidential candidate John Edwards, and the Duke Lacrosse Case.

The Southern Illinois native now considers North Carolina home as her backyard garden will attest. Tamara grows where God plants her. In addition to serving as the Senior Public Information Officer for the Durham County Sheriff's Office, she is an adjunct professor and the co-producer of an upcoming documentary entitled Victims of Faith produced by Front Runner Productions. The feature film will explore the role of faith in the fatal shooting of three Muslim students in Chapel Hill, NC.

Her proudest achievement is the creation of a Christian digital ministry targeting single women. Born out of her desire to encourage herself, Single Serving for Single Women™ offers original, visually engaging daily inspirational quotes to its growing fan base on social media. The digital ministry serves up #MorningPrayer tweets and Scripture along with a weekly Blog Series.

In the pending publication Single Serving for Single Women: A 50 Day Devotional, Tamara B. Gibbs is willing to walk in faith with her readers. The broadcast journalist turned author shares her trials, triumphs, laughter and misadventures as a single career woman holding fast to her faith while accepting the reality of the single woman's journey

Testimonial Quotes:

"Your Easter blog post on Single Serving for Single Women was just the reminder I needed. I am in a widows group and struggling to really forgive myself for shameful things and to powerfully embrace the words of Amazing Grace." - C.T.

"You have inspired me to step out of the box and trust God even more." - S.W.

"I just wanted to reach out and connect to let you know I had my breakthrough and jumped out of the boat full force. Thank you!" - O.F.

"You are inspiring me to step out in faith." - T. J.

SINGLE SERVING
FOR SINGLE WOMEN™

WE ARE • SOCIAL •

FOLLOW US @SINGLESERVING

WWW.SINGLESERVING.ORG